Meeting Objectives:

As an advisory body to the Secretary of Health and Human Services, and in accordance with its scope and charge “to inform and influence national and community-based policies and programs which impact infant and maternal mortality and related health outcomes of women, children, and families,” at its September 2020 virtual meeting SACIM will:

Objective 1: Expand SACIM members’ shared knowledge and understanding of the influence and impact of structural racism on the health and well-being of mothers and infants and their families and develop a framework/strategy to address structural/institutional racism in partnership with essential stakeholders.

- Deepen SACIM’s understanding of the data and research, care quality and access, and equity issues related to structural racism and its impact on overall maternal and infant health, health disparities, and racial inequities,
- Identify possible strategies for addressing and eliminating structural racism in U.S. society in order to promote and protect the health and well-being of all mothers and infants,
- Expand and strengthen the active participation of essential partners across sectors in addressing structural racism and its impact on infant and maternal mortality and accompanying inequities, and
- Leverage SACIM’s relationships with strategic partners and stakeholders in the development and advancement of strategic recommendations to address structural racism and its impact on infant and maternal mortality.

Objective 2: Identify on-going challenges and opportunities created by COVID-19 specific to the health of mothers and infants and identify possible actions for addressing those challenges.

- Examine the impacts of COVID-19 on the health of all mothers, infants, and their families, and the efforts being taken to mitigate those impacts,
- Review Federal COVID-19 focused activities related to the health of mothers and infants and identify opportunities for current and future action,
- Determine if additional program or policy recommendations are needed to address immediate and long-term needs of mothers and infants, and their families raised by COVID-19, and
- Monitor the potential long-term impacts of COVID-19 on systems of care and services to mothers and infants, and their families.

Objective 3: Establish a framework and strategies to effectively execute our charge to address the issues and factors that impact maternal and infant health, and create the organizational foundation needed to effectively execute our charge.

- Approve by-laws to guide the work of SACIM and promote accountability,
- Enhance the “Praxes” of the SACIM workgroups: Care Quality and Access, Data and Research for Action, and Equity to address structural racism,
- Examine the process for reporting SACIM activities to the Secretary,
- Maintain explicit commitment to and collective readiness for advancing equity, among all SACIM members, to anchor the committee’s work, and
- Identify emerging and/or urgent policy matters that impact maternal and infant health for briefing, discussion, and potential future recommendations.
